Your immigrant visa application needs further administrative processing. We cannot give you a definite date when the processing will be completed, and it will likely take several months or more. You can check your visa status online using your case number at the following website address <https://ceac.state.gov/CEAC/>. It may take three or more weeks for your case to appear in this system. NOTE: In some cases your medical exam may expire before administrative processing is complete. If this occurs, you will be required to redo your medical exam.
